Carton Staples

Carton staples are used with carton staplers to seal packages for shipping or storage. Carton staples are available in both stick and roll configurations. The correct type of staple to select depends on the stapler used, the staple brand, and the thickness of the material being stapled.

Carton staple sticks are used to staple packages for shipping or storage. They are used for medium-volume applications and require more frequent reloading than carton staple rolls.

Carton staple rolls are used to staple packages for shipping or storage. They provide a greater number of staples than carton staple sticks. They require fewer stapler reloads than sticks and are for higher volume applications.
